

Jamie Bishop

Boom Operator

Jamie Bishop is a sound recordist/ mixer professional who has built his extensive on-set experience across festival-screened and streaming independent feature films and shorts including the recent Misgivings (2025), My Tai (2023) and Patched (2023). After further study at New York Film Academy (2020), and a background in live music, directing and photography, he brings a strong technical foundation across sound and visual storytelling.

Before the film industry Jamie worked in a demanding hospital environment, where he refined his strong skills of teamwork, communication, professionalism, and accountability.

Lately he has been focused on stepping up to work alongside experienced crews in more demanding environments, where he has been gaining valuable experience in onset protocol and expectations. Jamie is now focused on Boom Operating/sound assistant on larger-scale productions.
